Dear diary,

Today my day, was almost good. I really enjoyed a lot with my friends. But on the way to home, I saw some beggars begging on the crossroad.

It was really a bad, shame and disgusted scene; As a country like India, the people are said to be another god. This really makes me ashamed. We should really help those needies. We should help them by sending school to the poor children, offering jobs to the elder one's etc.

Everything was all good spent. Hope tomorrow will also be a Happy day. With every sunrise may all will get good and happy life.
