

1. The disadvantage you would face if your backbone was made of just one long bone would be a lack of articulation.