

H/W
23-7-21

Date _____
Page _____

24th July 2021
Saturday, 9:01 pm

Dear diary,

Today my day was almost good. I was returning from my school to home. I was very happy as I got good marks in my test and thinking what my mother would say after seeing my test. I was coming with my friends. We were coming through the market, where we saw a very thin and sick person was begging on the crossroad. It was really a very bad, shame, and, and disgusted scene. As a country like India, the people are said to be another god but they are said to be another god but they are begging. This really makes us feel shame. We should really help such poor beggars give them food, cloths and many needy things, I and my friends decided to help them. I am really happy to have such friends who help someone and think about better future.

Date _____
Page _____

Everything was all good spent. Hope tomorrow will also be happy day. With every sunrise also be happy day. good and happy life.....

10:00 pm
good night .. 😊