Dear Diary

Today my day went in hesitation way. I was fully prepared for the English test but it was of no value. I don't know that it was Social Science test so, I didn't give a recapitulation to the chapters. When I reached the school campus I came to know that it was not English test. My friends told me that I was somewhat misreading, it was Social Science test. When I heard these words from my friends I got nervous and disappointed. My heart beats fast and I felt very ashamed for myself for not looking the exam timetable carefully. Any how I appeared the test. It was not that bad that I was thinking of because the question paper was easy and I even read the chapters before one week. I was reading all the subjects in a particular time limit. I ~~am~~ was giving priority to all the subjects because all subjects were important and equal ~~is~~ treated equal before me. This advantage gave me a lot of support in my examination hall. I knew that I wouldn't get the full mark in social science test but I am very sure that I wouldn't get less mark in the test. But it was my fault that I hadn't seen the exam timetable sincerely. Next time, I wouldn't repeat ~~the~~ ~~mistake~~ again. I'll make sure this doesn't happen again. I will take every minor things also sincerely then only I can achieve my goal without any visitation. We shouldn't take any decision/things of our life very lightly or carelessly. If we do that there will be only darkness in our life, light can't enter that place.

If we will be concern in very small things like this test ^{taught} ~~give~~ me a lesson that we should be sincere to what we are doing or looking. Every minor things also have value in our life. Minute mistakes can change everything in our life pattern.

Good night
