Me and Mine.

I

1.) Curu is the speaker

2.) Curu is talking to the king.

3.) The speaker is demanding for death.

4.) ~~To promise~~ and ^{to} fulfill the wishes that has been promised.

II

1.) The thief's brother ~~go~~ went to the court because he wanted justice.

2.) They use to do the opposite from all other kingdom. They use to work at night and sleep at morning also the animals were forced to sleep at morning.

3.) When the king and the minister died the Curu was made the king and disciple was made as the minister.

2) The disciple inclined to stay in the kingdom because everything cost the same, a single dudu ^{measures} it was a measure of ^{or} ^{about} bananas.

5) He created a drama. He told the king that it was not an ordinary stake and whoever went to the stake first would become the king in the next life. The second to die would become his minister. The king wanted to avail himself of the opportunity. The guru ^{himself} ^{of} the opportunity. The guru and his disciples were released. Thus, the guru managed to save his disciples' life.

- 1.)
- Yes wise people are always welcomed, and no one prefers inviting fools.
 - The wisdom is man's best friend, while foolishness is its enemy.
 - Wisdom never fails but it always passes while foolishness has no chance of passing.

• In the context to the story 'The Kingdom of Fools' we realise that the ruler's ^{disciple} got in the sticky situation ^{was due to foolish nature of the ruler.} without any physical effort. ^{Wisdom} It helps us differentiate right and wrong when our lives are in danger, we can easily defeat it with our wisdom. We never lose our wisdom and there is no end to the amount of wisdom we can gain.

- 2.) The queen was a very wise man who never succumbed to any temptation. He was quick to judge that his disciple and she were in the Kingdom of Fools. Knowing that the behaviour of foolish people is unpredictable, he decided to leave the city immediately. He did not get tempted like his disciple did by the one ruler in power for everything in the kingdom. He also knew that a foolish person should be tackled wisely. He did not try to reason with the king regarding the innocence of his disciple. Instead, he flattered the king with false praise and obtained the freedom of both his disciple and the kingdom. He earns readers' appreciation for his intelligence and presence of mind.
