

During the late 20th and early 21st centuries women's rights in Saudi Arabia have been limited in comparison to the rights of women in many of its neighboring countries due to Saudi Arabia's strict interpretation of Islamic law.