

We always need to store liquid in containers.

Why?

Ans → Liquids have the tendency to flow. The molecules of liquid are loosely packed so, if not stored in containers they will scatter around very easily. For this reason, we always need to store in containers.