

Does water evaporate faster in windy condition? Why or why not?

Ans: Yes, water evaporates faster in a windy condition. Wind moving over a water ~~on~~ surface can carry away water vapour, essentially drying the air, which leads to increased evaporation rates so, water evaporates faster in windy conditions.