Ch-6 The fox and the crow

Hey friends, I am sad because a fox named Reynard flattered me and took away my morsel. I will narrate to you the whole incident. The fox came and said "Sir, Crow, you are so handsome and when you will sing a song, the birds of these woods will call you the king" and I wanted to thank him but when I opened my mouth, my morsel fell down and the fox ate it. He said that I flattered you, but you couldn't understand." So, I understand and I am very sad now. I have learnt a a lesson that one should never get carried away with praising words used by greedy people to flatter and cheat him/her.
