

Q

* Heat is the form of energy in which the kinetic energy is transferred from one medium to another.

* The amount of heat required at a pressure of 1 standard atmosphere to raise the temperature of 1 gram of water by 1°C is known as calorie.