

More people live in the south of Greenland than in the north. Why do you think this is so?

Ans- The Arctic Circle passes through the southern part of Greenland. Most of Greenland therefore lies in the northern hemisphere, this region has a very cold climate. The south-western coast of Greenland is warmest part of the country. So most of the people live here.