

Worksheet

139. Service Sector in Indian employes two different kinds of people who are these

Ans. Service Sector in India updated in year 198 employes two different kinds of people. These are:

- primary and ancillary workers

Primary workers include those directly provide service and workers will ordered to a speed pose

140. Workers are exploited in the unorganised sector. Do you agree with this view give reason?

Ans: Yes, workers are exploited in the unorganised sector. The unorganised by small and scattered units which are large outside the control of the government. There are ~~more~~ rules and regulation but

but there are not allowed jobs here are below paid and often not regular as

Q 15) How are the activities in the economy classified on the basis of employment condition.

Ans. On the basis of employment condition activities in the economy are classified as organised and unorganised Sector.

Q 16) Compare the employment condition in organised and unorganised sector?

Ans. The organised sector has companies which are registered with the government and hence it offers it job security, paid holiday, pension, working hours and extra pay for overtime work.
On the other hand the unorganised sector is a host of opposite.

Q) A) Explain the objective of implementing NERCA 2005.)

Ans - ~~NERCA~~ NERCA aims to provide employment of 100 days if it fails to do so it will give unemployment allowance to the people