

1. Festival is celebrated on the fourth day of the new moon of the Hindu month of Chaitra. It mainly involves the skipping of an idol of Lord Ganesha in a temple or courtyard at the end of the festival. The idol is immersed in water in a process known as Visarjan.