

Story writing

write a short story using animal characters.

On a hot summer day a fox comes upon an orchard and sees a bunch of ripened grapes. It thinks it just what it needs to quench my thirst. Just as it moves back a few paces, runs and jumps falls short of reaching the grapes. It tries in different ways to reach the bunch of grapes but in vain fails. It finally gives up and says to himself. I am sure that they are sour anyway.

Moral: It is easy to despise what you cannot get your hands on.
