Diary entry on 'Feelings towards beggars'

1/10/21

9:20pm

Dear Diary,

Today I saw that beggar again ~~around~~ around our school. I feel really bad for him. I wish I could do something for him but unfortunately, I cannot. I talked to my parents about helping him but they said that we should not trust such people as they are very professional and it is their job to do this. They are not need in actual.

I don't trust them I want to help that beggar so I will try to save the money from what my parents give to take to school with me. I hope I succeed in doing this.

I will keep giving you updates about how much I spend and I gave some money

@ good Night

market. The monkey said the heart is in ~~my~~ the tree I will go and bring it you wait. The crocodile went near that tree and the monkey jumped from the crocodiles back and the he ran into the jungle and left over the sad crocodile behind crying.

This loud sharp call seems to come from nowhere

Then, a flash of feet

The slender neck arched away from you. as he descends and as he darts away, a glimpse of the very end of his tail.

And read a book, preferably one of your favourites with great concentration. The moment you begin to live inside the book. A blue shadow will fall over you. The wind will change direction, the steady hum of bees in the bushes nearby will stop. The cat will awake and stretch. Something has broken your attention And if you look up in time you might see the peacock turning away as he gathers his tail to shut those dark glowing eyes, violet fringed with gold and amber. It is the tail that has to blink. For eyes that are always open.
