

HW

Q) What are the executive and legislative powers of the President of India?

Executive powers

→ Can appoint to highest majority to form a govt.

→ He appoints the governors of states.

→ He is the supreme commander of the armed forces and the chief of army and navy.

Legislative power.

Session of summons and prorogues all the sessions of parliament.

Presidential approval and signature

3) The President can dissolve the Lok Sabha on the advice of Council of Ministers,