Dear Diary,

When I was on my way to school I saw a beggar whose condition was very bad. He looked at me with the expectation that I could give him something, but I was going to school, I had nothing. I ignored him and went on. After ~~waiting~~ for some time, when his thoughts came to my mind I ran suddenly to give him my tiffin. I thought several times about this, and finally decided to give my tiffin. I knew it ~~could~~ wouldn't bring a great change in his life, but it was a small step on my part to help him. He received it smilingly and offered me some pennies which he kept with him. I asked him to not give me these things as I was ~~late~~ already ~~for~~ ~~school~~ late for my school. After that the whole day, ~~at home~~ I spent smilingly. That day, I understood the real happiness which we get by helping others.

Yours lovingly
Sandeep
