Dear diary,

It was one of a kind experience for me!!!

When I was going to school today, I saw a very heartbreaking sight. I saw a beggar on the roadside, with torn clothes, without shoes and begging for money. He was an old man. It was a very hot day today and he was sitting under direct sunrays. I can't even imagine through which pain that man has been through. It could be very painful for him. I am feeling very hurt because I couldn't able to help him. I even noticed among some of the people someone was helping him, and some were not. It make me a bit happy but I am still upset that I can't help him. We should be happy about the things that we have now.
