Dear Kitty

Today while going to school, I saw a girl with untidy clothes. My mother said that she is a daughter of maid. I was moved to see her. The sweet, innocent face of the girl kept on haunting me the whole day. I came back home and was desperate to talk to her. I talked to her and tried to tell her about going to school and ban on child labour. I told her that education is the way to come out of ignorance, suppression. I tried to make understand that how much education is important in one's life. She told me about her poverty and helplessness. The girl was happy to hear that and promised that she would definitely go to school if her parents allow her.
