

Page: _____
Date: / /

History

1. Nationalism is a feeling of pride in one's country. It also refers to the desire for freedom, felt by people under foreign domination, as in the case of pre-independent India. This growing sense of nationalism led to the birth of the Nationalist movement and eventual freedom from colonial rule.
2. In 1885, Allan Octavian Hume, a retired British civil servant, founded the Indian National Congress (INC).