The honest woodcutter.

Once there lived a poor woodcutter. He used to cut trees in woods. One day he was cutting wood on the bank of river. His axe fell into the river. The river was deep. He could not take his axe out. He sat on the bank and began to weep. Mercury the angle of water appeared. She asked the reason of his weeping. The woodcutter told the whole story. Angle dived into the water and brought the golden axe. The woodcutter refused to take it. Angle again dived into the water and brought the silver axe. The woodcutter did not take it either. Then she brought an iron axe. The woodcutter took it gladly. Angle was much pleased. She rewarded the woodcutter with the other golden and silver axes.
