

Life in an Indian village

60% of Indians live in a village and it will be not wrong if we call a village as a real India.

Because villages carry the real tradition and and culture of India. Villages are best in many ways and village are best in many ways and village life is far better than a sophisticated city life. villages are the integral part of India because they have a rich agricultural heritage and capable of producing food for the entire nation. Apart from our food requirement villages also hold some cultural importance.

Life in an Indian village is quite ~~same~~ <sup>simple</sup> and tough at the same time.