Dear Adi Bhai

I hope you are fine. How is Pihu? I have written this letter to ask you to visit Kolkata for Dussehra celebration. As you know that such an amazing celebration is done in Kolkata, I want you all to visit our house this year. We will have a lot of fun. Hope you, Pihu, uncle and aunty all are coming.

Yours lovingly
Diya

Soumukha was a clever but poor farmer.

One day, he learnt that the king was through his village and would be stopping there for a night. He decided to give the King a gift and perhaps earn a small reward. He took his best cock to the king and presented it to him. The king was very pleased to get such a fine bird. Then he ~~was very pleased~~ saw the intelligent look on Soumukha's face and decided to test him. 'In my family, I have a wife, two sons, two daughters, and you see my quest today. Tell me, how can I divide this ~~one~~ one cock among seven people?

Sivmukha thought for a while and said, 'It's easy. You see the head of the family, so you will get the head. Your wife will get the cock's back as she is the backbone of the family. Your daughters will one day get married and go away, so they should get the two wings, and your sons will follow the path you show them, so they should get the legs.'

'And what about you?'

'I am the guest, so I should get whatever is left over.'

The king was pleased by his clever answer and presented Sirmukha with a gold coin. Now Sirmukha had a foolish neighbour, Seipati, who became very jealous when he heard about the
