

Mangal Pandey was an Indian soldier under the British who was associated with the Revolt of 1857. His attack on British officers on March 29, 1857, marked the beginning of the Revolt. He encouraged Indians for the first time by giving the slogan 'maro Firangi ko'.