

The horse and Snail

Once there was a horse he was very proud of himself he saw a snail seeing how slowly the snail would the horse teeth did "Hey snail shall we have a race".

he asked. The snail was angry with the horse he said "Okay lets do it we will race on saturday" say the snail. The snail went home and called all snails together.

Lian & bro sawk... he told everyone about the race. They made a plan to outsmart the horse.

When Sunday came they left home very early. They took up a hiding place a little distance from each other all the way from the starting point to finishing line. The race started the horse ran a little then looked up he's not a snail ahead of him the horse increased his pace where the field was still ahead the horse started running harder and fast however hard tried the snail you are still ahead of it cried out the poor horse finally gave up. "Ok I loose" said the humble horse.