4) What do you understand by human poverty?

The human poverty is an idea that goes beyond the restricted view of poverty. It exists when people live under low standards. In this situation people usually don't have adequate access to water, clean shelter, food, clothing, medication and other basic needs of humans.

5) Identify the social and economic groups which are more vulnerable to poverty in India.

The social groups of scheduled castes and scheduled tribes, economic groups of rural agricultural labourers, and urban casual labourers or individuals like physically handicapped people and widows are more vulnerable to poverty in India.
