

H.W
15/7/21

States of matter are Interchangeable.

- Matter can change from one state to another using these processes.
- The above diagram contains water's states as example.