

H/W
11/05/2024

HOME ASSIGNMENT

① Define reproduction? ~~and~~ why is it important?

Ans → The process by which the living organisms produce their young ones of their own kind is called reproduction.

⇒ It is important for survival of their species and without it the species would eventually come to an end or disappear from earth.

⇒ This process ensures maintenance of stability of ecosystem and continuity of life on the earth.

11/5/2021

HOME ASSIGNMENT

Date _____
Page _____

Write two differences between Asexual reproduction and Vegetative Propagation.

ASEXUAL REPRODUCTION

⇒ The cells splits off in this process.

⇒ It is a method of reproduction where only a single parent is reqd.

VEGETATIVE PROPAGATION

⇒ The cells doesn't splits off in this process.

⇒ It is a type of asexual reproduction and the vegetative parts give rise to new plants.