Dear Diary,
2 weeks ago, when I went to the school I was dejected to see a beggar on the way onto my school. I was downhearted to see the sight. The clothes to the beggar was tattered. He was sitting on the side of road. He was only calling the people to give him anything that they have. I saw some people who were ignoring the beggar, and some people also gave him money like coins of £5, £6 or £10 or less. It was very sorrowful experience,

But I ~~was~~ kept patience that time then I went near the beggar and gave him ₹20 because I had ₹50 that time for buying few stationary items. After giving the money the beggar seemed very happy and I ~~felt~~ felt so pleased that I ~~was~~ felt I was over the moon, then I thought ^{that} I don't had any other things to give beggar I gave ^{said} some inspiration and motivational words so that he would be calm. We should think about these beggars so that they can also live a happy life. Failure comes before success so, we should struggle for it, and we shouldn't accept the ~~few~~ defeats in life and should go in ~~a~~ Patience (patiently) way in life.
