Humanity can conquer the worst of circumstances. The Christmas truce of 1914 is an incredible testament to what the daily occupying of hundreds of thousand of men - those mosh entrenched in the war of the choice we all can make: we can see others as they also show us that what can happen when we make that choice: enemies can become friends and at least for a moment, there is peace. Like the soldiers of 1914 we can choose to see others as people who matter like we matter. When we choose humanity, when we remember this choice, we also realize that we have the ability to make the most of the future. So let's resolve to take a stand ~~to~~ So let's resolve to take a stand for humanity.
