

1. Light energy is a form of energy which our sense of sight can detect.
2. Object that can emit light energy by themselves are known as luminous objects.
Object that can't emit light energy by themselves are known as non-luminous objects.