

HOME ASSIGNMENT

Write a short note on Rural life and culture of our country before British rule.

Ans-

* Before British rule farmers cultivated their own land for generations which were belonging to their family. Nobody have to pay tax for their productions. So villages were largely self-sufficient.

* During the rule of Sher Shah Suri Patta system was introduced and revenue was charged depending on the fertility of the soil.

* In times of drought or famine the revenue was reduced, or at times even not collected.