

11/19

Q id - ...

Birds are winged creatures.

An ostrich cannot fly in spite of having wings. Why?

Ans Ostriches, emus, cassowaries, rheas, and kiwis can't fly.

Unlike most birds, their flat breastbones lack the keel that anchors the strong...

pectoral muscles required for flight. Their puny wings can't possibly lift their heavy bodies off the ground.